Dr. Peter Castillo is a Fellowship-trained Female Pelvic Medicine specialist, who created the first private Intimate Wellness Center in the San Francisco Bay Area. As founder and director of Swan Medical Intimate Wellness in Los Gatos, he is dedicated to improving common health conditions that affect millions of women.

Dr. Castillo holistically treats symptoms impacting intimacy and quality of life through bespoke practices designed and led by experts in the field. He and his team optimize health through root-cause treatments for issues associated with aging, and that occur as a consequence of childbirth and menopause. In a welcoming environment where nothing is taboo, he is committed to empowering women and erasing the stigmas around female sexual health through educational events, seminars and compassionate care.
